

SKETCHNOTE WORKSHEETS & CHALLENGES

I've collected all of the worksheets and challenges from The Sketchnote Workbook in packets by chapter so they're easy for you to review or print out and use.

SHARE YOUR WORK!

I would love to see your work on these worksheets and challenges. There are two places you can share your sketchnotes:

THE FLICKR GROUP

The Sketchnote Handbook & The Sketchnote Workbook Flickr group provides a place to share your sketchnotes, from worksheets and challenges to samples of your own independent sketchnote work:

SKETCHNOTE ARMY

The Sketchnote Army is a website dedicated to finding and showcasing the sketchnote work of people from around the world. Submit your work!

Remember, focus on doing experiments, NOT completing assignments! Sketchnoting is a learning practice that improves over time—a journey. Have fun with it!

CREATE A SKETCHNOTE TASK LIST

Using the check box system and other task icons provided in this chapter, create a task list for your day, week, or weekend. Where appropriate, include diagrams with task details in your list for reference.

QUESTIONS

How did the sketchnoted task list work? Did you remember more about each task by adding visuals, like an icon or a drawing? If you added a detailed diagram, did it help you complete the task more effectively?

CREATE A FIVE-YEAR SKETCHNOTE PLAN

Think about your goals five years in the future, and then roughly sketchnote those ideas on a sheet of paper.

Place your name and a date five years in the future at the center of the page, with attributes surrounding your name including items like work, life, family, relationships, travel, and any other important items in your life of the future.

Stay loose, using drawings, icons, and bold lettering to emphasize written text. Describe yourself as if you are already living out the attributes you wish to achieve five years in the future.

CREATE A SKETCHNOTE TRAVEL PLAN

Before your next trip, take some time to gather the flight, hotel, city sights, maps, and any other relevant trip information.

Create a sketchnote map of these elements, starting with the title at the top of the page or in the center, and placing travel details around the title. If your map gets messy, create a final sketchnote.

When finished, review the plan before you travel. Take a photo of the map for yourself or to share with family members or colleagues.

QUESTIONS

How did this visual travel plan work as a reference? Did you get a better overview of the trip plans through documenting them visually? Were you more aware of daily activities because of this sketchnote plan? If your family was on the trip, did it help them understand and communicate the trip's plans more effectively?

In the grid below, use squares, circles, triangles, lines, and dots to create icons for each word related to travel. Skip ahead if you get stuck. The last row is blank so you can create your own icons.
